Martin Rauschert - Wolf E. Arntz

Antarctic Macrobenthos

The Rauschert-Arntz field guide on invertebrate life at the Antarctic seafloor

- 80 colour plates on individual taxa of about 20 phyla living on and above the Antarctic seafloor
- 16 plates on benthic communities on the continental shelf and slope of the Atlantic sector of the South Polar Sea

Photographs by Martin Rauschert, Tomas Lundälv, Julian Gutt and others. Text by Wolf Arntz and Martin Rauschert. Foreword by Gotthilf Hempel

This book is of interest to researchers and students of Antarctic zoology and ecology, and to all those – including tourists – interested not only in polar biodiversity at or above the sea level but also in what there is below the ship

The fauna of the South Polar Sea is much richer than you might think!
